What are cookies

A cookie is a small text file that a website saves on your computer or mobile device when you visit the site. It enables the website to remember your actions and preferences (such as login, language, font size and other display preferences) over a period of time, so you don't have to keep re-entering them whenever you come back to the site or browse from one page to another.

Cookies can be "persistent" or "session" cookies.

How do we use cookies

How to control cookies

Most web browsers accept cookies by default, but you can control and/or delete them as you wish.
You can delete all cookies that are already on your computer and you can set most browsers to prevent them from being placed. If you do that, however, you may have to manually adjust some preferences every time you visit a site and some services and functionalities may not work.
